"Strength has no gender" is a powerful reminder that strength—whether physical, mental, or emotional—is not confined by societal stereotypes or expectations tied to gender. It challenges outdated norms and celebrates the idea that resilience, courage, and capability are universal human traits. Everyone, regardless of gender, has the capacity to be strong in their own unique way.

Delivered a talk on strength has no gender during online STTP session organized by Department of Basic Sciences, Indian Institute of Information Technology, Nagpur.

More than 38 Faculties attended this virtual session.
